erodgers@wsh-law.com

Emma Rodgers focuses her practice on real estate law. Before joining WSHC+B as an attorney, she clerked for the firm, gaining hands-on experience working alongside WSHC+B partners on business and commercial real estate transactions, drafting land use documents for local municipalities, and negotiating entertainment service contracts.

In 2023, she graduated from the University of Miami School of Law with her Juris Doctor and LL.M. in Real Property Development. Emma also graduated with two Bachelor of Science degrees in sociology and criminal justice from Clemson University Honors College.

In addition to her legal work, Emma co-founded Lauren-Elizabeth Jewels, a nonprofit that supports oppressed women and children asylum seekers.
