

Daily Business Review

The Daily Business Review reported on the Florida Supreme Court opinion regarding the Citizen's Investigative Panel. In her article, reporter Noreen Marcus quoted attorney John Quick.

“The court upheld the entire investigative process with just the one narrow exception that it can't use a subpoena as it relates to the officer under investigation,” he said. The article notes that John welcomed the opinion as “a good decision.”

The story ran on June 22, 2017.

